

$300,000 GONE IN BIG SMASH

San Francisco Building and Loan Concern Closed To-day

SMALL INVESTORS LOSERS

Continental Building and Loan Association Put in State of Liquidation After an Expert Had Gone Over the Affairs of the Concern.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 9.—The Continental Building and Loan association did not open its doors for business to-day, because John S. Walker, the state building and loan commissioner, following an examination yesterday, threw the concern into immediate liquidation. The law gives the directors the right to show cause in court within ten days why the action should not be permanent.

Edward Sweeney, the president of the association, is superintendent of the San Francisco mint.

Building and Loan Commissioner Walker says that the expert's report showing a shortage of $300,000 "is not far off from the way." He says further that the expert's report shows that both investors and borrowers have been defrauded. The shareholders in the concern mostly are persons of small means.

ALLEGED YEGG CHIEF PLACED UNDER ARREST

Charles Cameron Captured in Bellows Falls and Taken Yesterday to Chelsea.

Bellows Falls, Aug. 9.—Charles Cameron, known to the underworld as "John-sburg Shorty," and declared by the police to be the leader of a gang of yeggmen who for many years have terrorized New England, was arrested in this city yesterday by the local police and Postoffice Inspector Henry W. Robinson of Boston, charged with breaking into the postoffice and general store at Williamstown, last September. He is wanted in several cities charged with post-office robberies.

Cameron was calmly dining in a restaurant on the main street here when the police came upon him. Offering no resistance he steadfastly denied his identity. Later in the day, however, when confronted by James R. Wood of the Wood-Morgan Detective agency in Boston, he acknowledged he was the much-wanted yeggman.

The police of the country have been searching for Cameron for years. One by one they have captured members of his gang, until to-day there is but one at liberty. Cameron, though, always escaped their dragnets. He seemed fearless and carried on his operations with apparent foolhardiness.

It is believed he was the leader of the gang, which only a short while ago, blew the safe in the postoffice at Pepperell, Mass., carrying with several thousands of dollars. He is also wanted in connection with a big jewelry robbery in Waddington, N. Y.

The specific charge on which he was taken, the robbery of the postoffice in Williamstown, was a most dramatic affair. More than 100 shots were fired during the battle between the police and the yeggmen. The robbers held the officers at bay for several hours and finally escaped with a large amount of money.

Of the Cameron gang the best remembered are James Christie, "Jed" Prouty, Edward McCarthy and "Jack" Nelson, all of whom are now serving sentences in the federal prison at Atlanta. Several others are confined in the jail at Windsor. They are Richard Monahan, William Driscoll and Bertram Bannister. Arthur Burns, an alleged member of the gang, is awaiting extradition in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he was caught two weeks ago.

Cameron was taken last night by Chief of Police Severance, Policemen McKinnon and Sheriff Adams to the Orange county seat at Chelsea. They were accompanied by State's Attorney Wilson.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Paul Gilmore in "The Hovee" at Opera House, Saturday Evening.

Paul Gilmore, in "The Hovee" a play by H. S. Sheldon, which ran all last night at the opera house to-morrow evening. This strong drama has gained especial distinction because of the fact that it presents a new treatment of the "triangle" problem. Its very title is due to its uncompromising revelation of "The Hovee" that remains when the flames of a guilty passion have burned away. From the wreck of domestic happiness thus created there emerges a central figure of the sincerest strength, the husband of the story's faithless wife, and the daring novelty of an old theme's new handling is found in this husband's action when he discovers that his wife has a lover and instantly adopts a means of punishment far more effective than an appeal to "the unwritten law." Mr. Paul Gilmore gives a powerful portrayal of this role of Richard Craig, the wronged husband, and is supported by players specially chosen for high artistic quality.

D. P. McKenna returned last night to Westport, Conn., after spending the past few days in this city on business.

E. A. Yawger, a granite firm representative, who has been spending the past two days in this city on business, returned yesterday to his home at Round Brook, N. Y.

F. M. Rutland, a granite agent, who had been spending a few days in this city on business, returned yesterday to Palisades, N. Y.

Ernest Theriault of Berlin street returned to this city last night from Greenfield, Mass., where he has been spending the past few weeks as the guest of relatives.

EDUCATING IMMIGRANTS.

Plan Given of Campaign Being Conducted in Buffalo, N. Y.

Education in American standards of living is being given the immigrants of Buffalo by a group of 15 women, working under the Buffalo Committee of the North American Civic League for Immigrants. The manner in which these lessons in living are imparted to the foreign born, as well as the results obtained, are described in the bulletin just issued for free distribution by the United States bureau of education. Says the bulletin:

"The 'domestic educators' go directly into the homes of such families as are willing to receive them. There they show the housewife how to keep her home clean, how to cook, how to vary the diet, how to get the most for her money, how to prevent sickness, how to sew, how to take care of the children; in fact, all or nearly all phases of home making are taken up and thoroughly demonstrated."

"It has been found that the teaching given to the mother of a family is passed along to her neighbors and relatives, especially the teaching of food principles."

"Cereals are now used in 50 homes where a month ago they were unknown. The use of coffee in all the homes the educators are visiting is on the decrease, and cocoa is used in its stead, while fresh milk has been substituted for canned milk. Stews and nourishing soups have taken the place of boiled cabbage and fried pork. Women are baking their own bread and cookies instead of buying a cheap inferior quality at the nearest bakery. Some families, who were left as hopeless by several other philanthropic agencies have been induced to clean up their homes under the educator's instructions. There are numerous children now receiving proper hygienic care who before the educators' visits were strangers to soap and water. Prospective mothers have benefited greatly by the proper instruction both as to nursing and washing, whereas previously there was only neglect."

"Through co-operation with the Charity Organization society 20 women are taught how to buy economically."

As to the importance of the work, the bulletin says:

"Amelioration of the home and living conditions of immigrant families is at the center of the problem of assimilation. Better homes mean better citizens. More serious than the present overcrowding, bad air, poor food, sickness, and the rest is the underlying hygienic and domestic ignorance. Hitherto no adequate steps have been taken to replace this ignorance by intelligence. To be reached effectively for this purpose these immigrants must be reached in their homes."

SECOND VETO OF WOOL BILL

President Taft Sent It to Congress To-day

URGES CONGRESS TO STAY

Until a Satisfactory Substitute Measure Can Be Enacted—He Has Changed His Reason Since Vetoing the Former Measure.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—For the second time within a year, President Taft to-day vetoed a bill to revise the wool tariff—schedule K of the Payne-Aldrich law.

With a message of disapproval, the president returned to Congress the bill evolved as a compromise between the House and Senate, holding that its low rates would bring disaster to home industries. He appealed to Congress, however, not to adjourn until it had enacted a measure to "substantially reduce unnecessary existing duties," without destroying protection for the wool industry in the United States.

The president's disapproval of the wool bill is to be followed with similar vetoes of the steel bill and the cotton bill. The sugar bill is likely to be vetoed, as is the excise tax bill, the latter probably on the ground that the president believes it unconstitutional.

"I shall stand by my pledge to maintain a degree of protection necessary to offset the difficulties in cost of production here and abroad and will heartily approve of any bill reducing duties to this level," wrote Mr. Taft.

While the bill vetoed to-day and the one disapproved last year were identical in terms, the president's reasons differed. He vetoed the former bill because it had been framed before the tariff board's report—the latter because, he said, it had been framed with disregard for the public's interest.

"Most of the rates in the submitted bill," wrote the president, "are so low in themselves that if enacted into law the inevitable result would be irretrievable injury to the wool growing industry, the enforced idleness of much of our wool combing and spinning machinery and of thousands of looms and the consequent throwing out of employment of thousands of workers."

The bill sent to the White House imposed an ad valorem duty of 29 per cent. on raw wool and on cloths of 49 per cent. Both rates Mr. Taft held were insufficient to protect the wool grower and the manufacturer.

It was predicted to-day that the wool bill might be passed by the House over Mr. Taft's veto, but there was some doubt as to its fate. In view of the public's report and from his interest, he did not think it would pass there, as it did 12 months ago.

The president declared in his message that he was anxious to see schedule K revised downward and that he would be glad to see Congress remain in Washington until a bill be considered proper was sent to the White House. He found it impossible, he said, in view of the platform on which he was elected, to approve the submitted measure, but declared one agreeable to his views had been drafted by minority members of the House ways and means committee.

"I strongly desire to reduce duties," read the message, "provided only the protective system be maintained and that industries now established be not destroyed. It now appears from the tariff board's report and from bills introduced into the House and Senate that a bill may be drawn so as to be within the requirements of protection and still offer a reduction of 20 per cent. on most wools and of from 20 per cent. to 50 per cent. on cloths."

"I cannot act on the assumption that a majority of either House will refuse to pass a bill of this kind. I therefore urge upon Congress that it do not adjourn without taking advantage of the plain opportunity, thus substantially to reduce unnecessary existing duties, I appeal to Congress to reconsider the measure, which I now return without my approval, and to adopt a substitute therefor making substantial reductions below the rates of the present act, which the tariff board shows possible without destroying any established industry or throwing any wage earners out of employment, and which I will promptly approve."

"Despite the efforts that have been made to discredit the work of the tariff board, their report on this schedule has been accepted with scarcely a dissenting voice, by all those familiar with the problems discussed, including active representatives of organizations formed in the interest of the public and the consumer."

The message sent to the House to-day was drawn after conferences between the president and Chairman Emery of the tariff board. It was submitted to the cabinet yesterday at a special meeting.

HOWE ATTACKED THE "BOSSSES."

Democratic Candidate for Governor Made Some Sensational Innuendoes.

Barnet, Aug. 9.—On Wednesday evening the Democratic candidate for governor, Harland B. Howe spoke here and urged his candidacy upon the voters. A large crowd turned out to hear him. Music was furnished by the band and several solos were sung by Mr. Davidson of Boston who is spending a few days in town. The opening address was made by Milo Gibson, a resident of Barnet and teacher at Merceburg academy, Pa. Ex-Representative John G. Roy was then called upon and in a few remarks he introduced Harland B. Howe and yielded the floor.

Mr. Howe spoke for nearly an hour and a half, dealing principally with the so-called evil of unequal and unjust taxation in this state as compared with other states about us. He spoke of the fact that we in Vermont are wont to look across the Connecticut river and pity the state of New Hampshire and her people because they have been in the throes of bossism and railroad control. He then proceeded to show his hearers how they are state by state ridden in the actual working out of our legislative methods than the state of New Hampshire could possibly be. His hearers listened intently when he spoke in detail of the experience he had in trying to introduce a bill which would expedite legal proceedings in our courts, if it became a law, as well as other important legislation in the legislature of 1912.

He appealed to the farmers on the ground that they are now paying almost twice as much taxation on the dollar as the railroads in their midst. He exhibited Commissioner of Taxes J. E. Cushman's tax report to substantiate his words. In an impassioned moment he averred that these unjust laws were enacted by the bosses, not in the daytime nor when good cold water was the beverage.

MILITIA BREAKING CAMP.

Vermont National Guard Will Participate in Big Military Manoeuvres.

Burlington, Aug. 9.—Yesterday at Camp Estey was devoted as on the earlier days of the encampment of the Vermont national guard, to rifle practice on the range. It was expected that there would be something in the way of military ceremony during the afternoon, probably consisting of regimental parade at retreat, but this was omitted. Occasional showers caused more or less inconvenience and discomfort to the men on the range. The time which would have been given to the evening parade had the plans not been changed, was taken up instead with preparations for the departure of the guard for Connecticut to-day.

It is expected that the First Infantry and the hospital corps will entrain about five o'clock this afternoon at Fort Ethan Allen, going to Danbury, Conn. in the western part of that state, via Springfield, Mass. They are due at their destination early to-morrow morning. Sunday will be spent in getting ready for the military manoeuvres, and the battle operations will begin Monday.

Little is known, even by the officers of the strategy in the minds of those who have mapped out the campaign, aside from the general details of the problem as already given out. The mounted detachment of scouts and orderlies will go by train to Connecticut, with the rest of the troops.

BARRE'S EASTER BATH.

City Received 3,874 Cubic Feet Per Second on That Memorable Day.

City Engineer George A. Reed furnishes interesting figures about the big freshet which visited Barre last Easter Sunday. The head of the engineering department claims that water flowed down into the city at the rate of 3,874 cubic feet per second with an equivalent of 1,740,000 gallons every minute. Orange reservoir, which is a pond covering some ten acres and having a depth of twenty-eight feet in places, would have been filled to the brim within twenty-three minutes after the water started its rush had it been headed that way. The engineer bases his conclusions on computations which he made at the time of the flood and after the waters had subsided.
